Srinivas Mukkamala

Srinivas Mukkamala, one of CAaNES' co-founders and its chief technology officer is a Senior Research Scientist with ICASA (the Institute for Complex Additive Systems Analysis, a statutory research division of New Mexico Tech performing work on information technology, information assurance, and analysis and protection of critical infrastructures as complex interdependent systems) and an adjunct faculty with the Computer Science department of New Mexico Tech., USA.

Mukkamala has over 100 peer reviewed publications in the areas of information security, digital forensics, data mining, simulation and modeling, and bioinformatics. His current research interests are intrusion and threat analysis, risk management, vulnerability assessments, digital forensics, malware mitigation and prevention, machine learning, and data mining.

Mukkamala received his M.S. and Ph.D. in Computer Science from New Mexico Tech and has been closely involved in the information assurance implementation projects, R&D programs, education and training since 2001. His current responsibility includes government and industry liaison, project management, and leading the New Mexico Cyber Strike Team to provide information and network security to ICASA customers.